

Where your next interim
legal role is concerned,
we will help you find your perfect match

AG INTEGRATE
PAIRINGS OF DISTINCTION.

Rosé and the Riviera.
Or a tailored suit and a Swiss watch.
Or the right interim legal consultant and the right in-house legal team.

Some combinations just work.

At AG Integrate we are interim legal matchmakers - connecting distinguished clients with distinguished freelance lawyers and other specialists. We call our approach creating 'pairings of distinction', and by that we mean matching you with the right client and project so you can do your best work. It's not just about your technical skills - it's about finding an environment where your style, pace and expertise fit naturally. That way, you can integrate quickly, build strong relationships and deliver real impact.

We invest time getting to know what makes each consultant and client unique, finding out what makes you tick, your strengths, and your ambitions. And we substitute box-ticking and form-filling for good, old-fashioned getting-to-know-you. It is a distinctive service, with every introduction carefully considered, handled personally, and built to last. We do everything we can to make the placements we facilitate more than a match - we help you find your perfect match.

Pairings of distinction isn't just a phrase, it's our promise.

Because when the right people come together, remarkable things happen.

Just like Rosé and the Riviera, we create pairings of distinction between interim legal consultants and clients.

The AG Integrate difference

We help legal professionals become successful consultants, finding you exciting interim assignments with leading companies, and helping you find the freedom to live the life you love. For over a decade, we've been placing interim lawyers, legal operations, risk and compliance, corporate governance, company secretarial and other specialists into roles at some of the world's leading brands.

The AG Integrate model gives you flexibility, control over your career and the opportunity to work with a variety of clients, across all kinds of projects. And crucially, we work closely with you to find interim roles that match your skillset, personality and goals.

We're here to help you find your perfect match.

*Just like a coffee and the sunrise,
we can help you find your perfect match.*

Thinking of taking a new career path but keen to stay in the legal profession?

Then legal consultancy may give you the fresh perspective you've been looking for. Whether you're a paralegal, newly qualified or a Partner-level expert, working as an AG Integrate consultant brings multiple benefits:

Take control

Life as an AG Integrate consultant puts you in the driving seat – whether it's choosing to work reduced hours, taking on short contracts or working for clients in a specific field. With greater control comes more freedom. It's helping people just like you to explore other passions – whether that's spending quality time with family, travelling the world, or dedicating time to a favourite hobby.

Broaden your experience

Working with us, you will have the chance to work for a diverse array of clients across a variety of sectors – from public to private, financial services to retail. It's an excellent way to broaden your portfolio and experience new challenges, because every placement brings opportunities to learn new skills and expand your knowledge. It could be the technicalities of a certain sector, or simply learning how to work with different personalities, technologies or brands.

Just like a private cove and a paperback classic, we can help you find your pairing of distinction.

There's more: the concierge support you'll receive

Chemistry & concierge support

As an AG Integrate consultant, you'll benefit from our Career Concierge Service. Before you join the team you'll meet one of our Partners and an AG Integrate Manager who will get to know you and your skillset, to help you find your perfect professional match.

Sharing opportunities

Part of Addleshaw Goddard – an international law firm that supports thousands of major companies across the world, and ranked by the FT as one of the top 5 most innovative law firms in Europe – we will continually open up opportunities for you at prestigious clients.

Handling the details

We'll work alongside you on your assignment details, remuneration, how you are paid, and any assignment extensions. We'll make the process of becoming a consultant as seamless as possible.

Ongoing support

You may be working in-house with one of our clients, but you're always part of the AG community. We'll keep in regular contact through our Partner mentoring system, training events and diarised catch-up calls. And as well as access to AG's resources, you'll also enjoy the security of our support and expertise, and will continually learn and grow.

At AG Integrate, people are at the heart of our business and personal interaction is how we operate.

*Just like an art gallery and hours to spare,
we can help you find your pairing of distinction.*

In the words of existing AG Integrate consultants...

AG is way ahead of its competitors, as its consultants are fully supported by the dynamic AG team. Their support is custom designed to meet the client's and consultant's needs.
