

Addleshaw Goddard is one of the largest law firms in the UK with no offices in the US and no formal alliances with any US law firm. This has enabled us to develop strong relationships with a number of US law firms, many of which already have a London office.

Due to the size of Addleshaw Goddard, and our expertise across the full range of commercial legal services, we often work with US law firms to supplement the services that they are already able to provide to their clients in the UK.

We also provide expertise to US law firms looking to establish a London presence, including advising on structural and regulatory compliance issues, and delivering training in specialist areas of English law.

We also have particularly well developed relationships with a network of independent European law firms, enabling us to offer clients and firms with whom we work an effective “gateway” to Europe. Needless to say, we are closely monitoring the potential impact of the UK’s exit from the EU and have created a dedicated Brexit hub on our website which will be regularly updated.

Overview of Addleshaw Goddard

Since 1775 we've evolved and grown into the successful business we know today. We're known for our quality, our breadth of expertise and our forward looking approach – continually adapting and innovating to meet our clients' changing needs and circumstances. Our success is built on caring about the way we do business: we care about our clients, our people, the communities we operate in and our impact on the environment.
