Energy & Utilities Practice

A DEDICATED OIL & GAS PRACTICE

Addleshaw Goddard's lawyers have handled some of the most sophisticated oil & gas transactions across a number of jurisdictions ranging from emerging markets across Africa to established regulatory regimes such as UKCS. Through the firm's strong presence and international network, we handle the acquisition, divestiture, structuring, development and financing of:

- Onshore and offshore upstream oil & gas (including conventional and unconventional resources),
- Midstream oil & gas (including LNG, pipeline, storage, and other infrastructure), and
- Downstream oil & gas (including petrochemical, refining and marketing and trading operations),

We also have significant expertise across electric power, utility and renewables, advising clients in joint ventures, private placements, public listings and other methods of monetisation. We regularly work on complex cross-border deals and our clients include integrated oil companies, state-owned entities, independent exploration and production companies, LNG developers, traders and importers, private equity funds, lenders, contractors, regulated gas utilities, refiners and retailers and pipeline companies, among others.

Our energy practice spans across continents and major energy jurisdictions and we have excellent working relations with local counsel in the key jurisdictions around the globe to assist project and client needs. The combination of our lawyers' specialised energy sector experience with the firm's strengths in the transactional, regulatory, finance, tax, competition/antitrust, environmental, employment and incentives, compliance and dispute resolution areas enables us to bring value and streamlined business approach to our clients.

Market Recognition

It is always a pleasure when our achievements are recognised through industry awards and we are pleased to be recognised as consistently performing with distinction by profession's most authoritative directories that canvass clients and the wider market each year, but what really matters to us is client satisfaction.

- We have been awarded 39 Tier One rankings by the Legal 500, 2016 with 39 Partners listed in the Elite Lawyer List
- ▶ We have been awarded 37 Tier One rankings by Chambers and Partners, 2017
- In a survey of law firms preferred by the FTSE350, we are ranked the 8th most frequently used law firm by the FTSE100, and the 10th by FTSE250 companies and ranked 9th for total number of FTSE 100 clients and 10th for FTSE 250 clients.
- A number of our lawyers and partners are regularly ranked and recommended by numerous legal and industry publications and establishments, including Euro Money, The Lawyer, Financial News and FT Innovative Lawyer Awards.

Advising the Oil and Gas Sector

Our oil & gas specialists provide advice on a variety of commercial arrangements both to services companies as suppliers and to upstream companies as customers. Risk management is a key issue for oil & gas sector participants given the nature of their day to day operations. Our ability to deploy specialist knowledge gives us a significant advantage in identifying and evaluating risks associated with these businesses in the context of corporate transactions and major projects.
